

Symposium Summary

Here are some event numbers...

- 100 Attendees
- 15 Speakers
- 216 #confhashtag tweets
- 23 Event photos shared

Survey metrics here

Did you attend? Want to leave feedback?

Use the email address you registered with to go to our submission form

Give feedback

this funnels people to a form - we can prepopulate form with details we already have for them

Form would appear in a modal/popup window

Here's what people thought about the symposium...

"I thought it was really good I thought it was really good I thought it was really good I thought it was really good I thought it was really good I thought it was really good"

DF. Rent, Dept of Wherever

"I found this really useful I found this really useful I found this really useful I found this really useful I found this really useful I found this really useful"

A.N. Other, Dept of Wherever

"I thought it was really good! Really"

A Person, Dept of Wherever

"I got a lot out of this symposium"

D Frent, Dept of Wherever

"This was really useful"

A. Tende, Dept of Wherever

Twtr widget for #confhashtag

Tweets

Follow

Roman Pichler @romanpichler 1 Oct
The slides from my talk on UX and Scrum at @UXOxford are online: slideshare.net/romanpichler/ux... #agile #ux #scrum #LeanUX #uxdesign
Retweeted by Oxford ChemBio Hub

Show Media

Oxford ChemBio Hub @oxchembiohub 3 Oct
New ChemBio Hub blog post on UX in Scientific Software bit.ly/cbh-blog-ux Expand

Oxford ChemBio Hub @oxchembiohub 2 Oct
CDD webinar on how thermodynamics influence lead optimisation. collaborativedrug.com/buzz/2014/09/0... via @cddinc

Tweet to @oxchembiohub

Another possibility here is <http://hshtags.com/> which would pull in conference hashtag from all sources (twitter, instagram, flickr etc)

Storify our symposium to keep all social media stuff together? Here's an article

<http://www.searchenginejournal.com/10-drop-dead-easy-ways-you-can-use-storify-to-create-compelling-content/46969/>

Key or in-depth testimonials at the top. Smaller soundbites underneath.